

Comma Splices & Run-On Sentences 1

A comma splice is a sentence error that results when two independent clauses are joined together with only a comma. A run-on sentence is a sentence error that results when two independent clauses are joined without any punctuation. Both of these errors can be corrected in one of several ways. Turn to page 557 in Write Source.

Place an RO in front of each run-on sentence, a CS in front of each comma splice, and a C in front of each correct sentence. Correct each faulty sentence. Use the proofreading marks inside the back cover of Write Source.

- Answers may vary.*
- CS 1. I never really enjoyed science^{(or) ⊙ M} math is my favorite subject.
- CS 2. By the time we arrived, the show was nearly over^{(or) ⊙ W} we missed everything but the credits and the cartoon.
- RO 3. Don't touch that chair^{!!} it has just been painted.
- C 4. I got an "A" on my English test. I've never gotten one before.
- CS 5. Some students would rather goof around than study^{(or) ⊙ S} some adults went through the same thing when they were in school.
- CS 6. Some run-on sentences are easy to recognize^{(or) ⊙ O} others are much more difficult.
- RO 7. Joan's mother works at the hospital^{(or), and} her father works at the school.
- CS 8. John had to go to his violin lesson[,] however, he will stop by when he is through.
- C 9. Katrin enjoys shopping for clothes, especially when someone else is paying for them.
- CS 10. Time goes slowly when you are working^{(or), but} it seems to fly when you are playing.
- C 11. Akira will meet us at the skating rink later; he has to go home to pick up his skates.

Extend: Write two run-on sentences and two sentences with a comma splice. Exchange papers with a classmate and correct each other's sentence errors.